The Westfield Regional Health Department has developed a three-hour training program for food handling supervisors. Each three-hour course will provide specific information on the following topics: Biological, chemical and physical hazards that compromise food safety, hand washing and personal hygiene, food borne illness risk factors, sanitizing procedures, pest control and various other topics.

The ultimate goal of this program is to have at least one certified food manager per shift at each food establishment located in the following towns: Chatham Borough, Fanwood, Garwood, Mountainside, New Providence, Roselle Park, Summit and Westfield.

As per Local Ordinances, attendance at an approved training course is mandatory. A food handler's certificate is valid for a period of two years from the original date of issue. In order to facilitate compliance with these regulations, the Westfield Board of Health will conduct a food handler-training course. Please be aware that this course is not designed to fulfill the requirements for Risk Type 3 food establishments, which is mandated under NJAC 8:24-2.1 (b).
